Democratic Committee Backs M. Weidenfeld For Orphan's Court

by Charles F. Schwan, Jr.

At a meeting held February 21, the Greenbelt Democratic Coordinating Committee (GDCC) took its second official act. It voted to endorse and support the candidacy of Muriel Weidenfeld for appointment to fill the unexpired term of Chief Judge Mary P. O'Hare of the Orphans Court. Judge O'Hare has resigned because of ill health. Her successor will be elected in the general election to be held in November.

The first official act of GDCC was to appeal to County Council "... not to adopt the Hendershot revised Commission Plan that would locate Greenbelt in the councilman's district with Bowie." (See News Review issue of November 26, 1981)

In its own words, GDCC is "a newly organized body which was formed in order that the political fortunes of the community of Greenbelt, as determined by Democratic party policies and practices, may be enhanced and safeguarded." Among other things, this involves support of Greenbelt positions on policy issues and encouragement and support of candidacies of Greenbelters for elective and appointive offices.

Membership on the committee is open to any Democrat resident of Greenbelt who holds elective office in the city, county, state or national government; is a president or vice-president of the Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt Democratic Club; is a member of the Prince George's Democratic Central Committee; is a Democratic precinct chairperson; or is a Chief Election Judge.

The only other candidate considered by GDCC for its endorsement for the Orphan's Court vacancy was A. Frederick McCarthy. The appointee may reside anywhere in the county and it is understood that there are many other candidates. McCarthy indicated that he expected to maintain his candidacy. The appointment will be made by the Governor with the advice of Senators representing Prince Georges County.

Still another matter considered by GDCC was an appointment to fill an anticipated vacancy in the Prince Georges Democratic Central Committee.

Vacancy Hearing Set

The Prince Georges County Democratic Central Committee will hold a public hearing Tuesday, March 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the New Carrollton City Hall Chambers at 8511 Legation Road. The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and resumes from individuals interested in being considered for the Orphans Court vacancy created by the resignation of Mary O'Hare. Interested persons are encouraged to bring copies of their resumes and be prepared to give a brief oral presentation about themselves.

Greenbelt Tragedy

by Mavis Fletcher

James Brown, a Springhill Lake maintenance employee, was shot and killed on February 17 in the townhouse of Anthony Zavosky at 9160 Springhill Lane. Zavosky, a D.C. police officer, had worked the night shift and returned home after his shift ended at 7 a.m. According to the Greenbelt police department, Zavosky told police that he was awakened by a noise in the next room and he believed that he had been awakened by an intruder in the house. According to a Washington Post report, the state medical examiner's office has ruled Brown's death a homicide, caused by multiple gunshot wounds.

Memorial Fund

Donations to a memorial fund for James Brown, the longtime employee of Springhill Lake who was killed on February 17, may be made by check, payable to Doretha Brown. The checks may be hand delivered or mailed to the Springhill Lake Business Office, 9164 Edmonston Road, Greenbelt, Md. 20770.

Brown had worked at the Springhill Lake complex for many years and presumably followed the prescribed procedure for performing maintenance in the absence of the occupants. This procedure involved knocking before entering with a passkey and then calling out before entering the premises. Assuming that Brown followed this procedure, all these precautionary sounds apparently failed to rouse Zavosky.

A spokesman for the custodial department of Springhill Lake indicated that more elaborate procedures are being planned for servicing apartments when the occupants are not present. These measures would be designed to avoid surprising the occupants when they are not expecting anyone to be in the apartments.

On February 23 the Greenbelt police department turned the investigation into Brown's death over to the office of the State's Attorney for further disposition.

Opening Postponed

Utopia Theater's presentation of Eugene O'Neill's powerful play "Moon for the Misbegotten" will be postponed until March 5 and 6. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. On opening night a wine and cheese reception will follow the performance. The audience will have the opportunity to socialize and to meet the actors, director and crew. For information call 474-7763, 345-3516 or 345-4487.

HOST FAMILIES NEEDED FOR FOREIGN STUDENTS

The Eleanor Roosevelt High School American Field Service (AFS) chapter is looking for a family to host a foreign student for the 1982-1983 school year. If interested in this enriching experience please contact Mary O'Connor at 262-0447.

BULLETIN

On Wednesday, February 24, the Prince Georges Board of Education approved the closing of Mary Bethune Junior High School in June 1982, a year earlier than the originally scheduled closing. Consequently all seventh and eighth graders previously slated to attend Bethune next year will now be assigned to Greenbelt Middle School next fall.

Apparently the change was made possible because renovations to Fairmont Heights Senior High School will be completed by the 1982-83 school year. Fairmont will become a four-year high school and will be able to accommodate ninth grade students currently attending Bethune. Ninth graders from Greenbelt already attend Eleanor Roosevelt High School.

Greenbelt Middle School is expected to have an enrollment of 866, with 416 new students assigned to the school in September with the closing of Bethune.

Repairs Proceeding on Burned Out Plaza Apartment Building

by Elaine Skolnik

County officials are satisfied that the owner of the Greenbelt Plaza Apartments is moving ahead to correct deficiencies in the apartment complex which were brought to the attention of the Prince Georges County Department of Licenses and Permits (DLP) following the disastrous fire of January 31 that left 26 families homeless. DLP had set February 23 as a deadline by which firm plans had to be in place to correct all deficiencies.

According to Joe Healy, head of the property standards division of DLP, the owner, Dr. Samuel Feldman, is complying by moving ahead on the work. He has employed the services of licensed electricians and plumbers. Mike Boswell, section head of the plumbing inspection division, also told the News Review that work is proceeding on making the required corrections, in particular those dealing with the gas furnaces. He thought it would take about three to four weeks for the job to be completed.

Until that time, all vacant units in the apartment complex must remain vacant. Any unit becoming vacant cannot be reoccupied until all code violations are corrected and/or until written acceptance of the units as fit for human habitation is received by DLP.

Dr. Feldman indicated his desire to comply: "We want to have everything as perfect as possible," he said. "We have always kept a clean ship and plan on keeping that up." Dr. Feldman explained that tenants in the burned-out 11 Parkway building would be permitted to return to their apartments "if they meet certain minimum requirements."

Tenant complaints before the Greenbelt City Council and county officials and agencies after the January 31 fire have resulted in in-depth inspection of the entire development. Fire officials blamed the fire on an electrical short in one of three Romex (electric) wires which had crossed and ignited paper-backed insulation, which smoldered for an unknown period. An earlier fire on October 19, 1981, affecting 12 units at 53 Crescent, was caused by a defective furnace.

County Meeting

County councilmen Frank Casula and Roy Dabney are continuing to monitor the situation. At a meeting they called on February 18, representatives of various county agencies gave updated reports on their investigations. In city manager James K. Giese's memo to council reporting on the meeting, Giese noted that Casula raised questions concerning possible legislation that the county might enact to prevent a similar situation from happening in the future.

In response, Giese's report notes, Director of DLP William Gullett commented that "the recent authorization by county council to enable Licenses and Permits to issue infraction citations so that penalties could be immediately applied, would be useful." Such an action would have to be approved by state legislation, however.

Gullett also recommended annual licensing of apartments. With the exception of some apartment developments which are on a one-year schedule because of a history of problems, the policy is to license and inspect every two years.

Giese also noted that the issue of tenant intimidation was addressed at the meeting. Officials felt that more might be done to make tenants aware of their rights through the Landlord Tenant and the Human Relations Commissions. Suggested also was the possible introduction of legislation to require posting of a sign in apartment buildings giving the telephone numbers of appropriate agencies that tenants could contact for assistance with problems. A possible meeting in Greenbelt of representatives of these agencies to dispense information was also considered.

Deficiencies Corrected

In commenting upon the present status of repairs to the buildings, Healy said, "They have pretty much satisfied us of the things we were concerned about. They put in fuse stats, replaced deteriorated (air conditioner) pig-tails and (we expect) to get certification from the (licensed) electrician." Before lifting the violation order, DLP must receive "sign-offs" on each building from WSSC and the Fire Marshal, testifying that the work done meets the county code.

Commenting on the plumbing violations, Boswell said that citations were issued for improperly installed flues, for placement of some of the furnaces too close to the access door, and for lack of outside air ventilation in all units. Some units that had outside air intakes were found to have these intakes obstructed. Because the apartment development was constructed in 1960, some code requirements now in effect may not have been applicable at that time.

Apparently the air ventilation problem stems from too little space being left between the furnace closet door and the carpeting in the adjoining room. WSSC is requiring that the doors be cut to provide one square inch of space for every 1000 BTU's. (The apartment furnaces have 8000 BTU's.) In addition, fire retardant materials, such as metal or asbestos board, must be placed to protect doors from furnaces. Where flues do not have proper clearance from the wall, they must either be moved away from the wall or the walls must receive a protective coating. (Some tenants had complained of hot walls next to the flues.)

Garden Club News

The annual sign-up meeting for the Greenbelt Garden Club will be held in the main meeting room of the Library on Tuesday, March 9, at 7:30 p.m. All members and potential members are requested to attend. Area captains are requested to be there at 7 p.m. On the agenda will be: election of a new president (volunteers needed); presentation of the rules; discussion of the Roosevelt overpass and how it affects the membership; ways the Garden Club can help keep the City beautiful; Garden Club picnic; garden plot assignment. New members are welcome.

Energy Aid Deadline

The Maryland energy assistance program, which started November 16, 1981, is designed to assist low income individuals with their heating bills and will expire at the end of March, 1982.

March 31 is the last day applications can be accepted. Anyone who believes he is eligible for Prince Georges County, call 695-2662.

THANKS

To the Editor:

I want to thank my many friends in Greenbelt, and especially those of the board and staff of GHI for the many well-wishing cards, visits and flowers I received from them during my recent illness in Holy Cross Hospital. I am home now at 8-L Southway, recuperating, and will be glad to see any of you who have the time to drop in.

Wall Thermostats Urged

To the Editor:

On February 18, I called PEP- CO's Engineering Department regarding thermostats.

I told them about GHI's plan to have more than one baseboard-mounted thermostat in a room. And the response was that this system was very inefficient! They said that although the installation cost might be lower, the monthly charges would be higher. PEP- CO advised against this system!

I told them about a wall-mounted thermostat being made available at an extra cost (which has turned out to be approximately $27). The response was that paying the extra expense was well warranted since a single wall-mounted thermostat in a room was the most efficient system and the extra cost would be returned in a short time in the form of a lower operating cost. They advised taking advantage of GHI's alternate plan regarding thermostats.

Yes — I think any member would do well to take PEP- CO's advice and request wall-mounted thermostats! I know that I am!

Help With Heating Bill Problems

Record cold temperatures in January are now resulting in some of the highest heating bills ever received by homeowners in the Greater Washington area. According to Washington Gas, a residential customer who received a January bill of about $119 last year would be receiving one for $172 this year.

Increased gas costs are one reason, of course. But the gas company points out that any time the temperature dips below zero—or stays below freezing for days on end—heating bills are bound to soar.

Bills vary widely due to sizes of houses, insulation and weatherization features, and customer habits. Customers having difficulty with gas bills should call 570-1000. Wherever possible, Washington Gas will assist them with utility bill problems.

Surplus Land Bill

by Charles F. Schwan, Jr.

Councilman Frank Casula has introduced for County Council consideration a bill that, if enacted, could have far-reaching ramifications for Greenbelt. His bill, CB-23-1982, deals with the sale of property declared surplus by the county. Current law permits the sale of such property at a preferred price to the person who owned it prior to the county's acquiring it if the property is declared surplus within 10 years of acquisition. The Casula bill would enlarge the category of preferred purchasers to include a "corporation or other legal entity" and would increase to 25 years the period within which preferential treatment would be given. The Casula bill, however, does provide that this right could not be exercised until after a governmental entity had an opportunity to purchase the property. Current law authorizes the former owner to exercise his option before the property is offered for sale to a governmental entity, including the municipality in which it may be located.

The Greenbelt interest is in the property acquired for school sites located in parcels 1 and 2 (between GHI and the Parkway). Property declared surplus by the Board of Education and turned over to the county for disposition. Several purchases were made between the middle and late 1960s until about 72 acres were acquired. This property, were the Casula bill to be enacted, could be reacquired by the former owners. It is they who own the remaining acreage of these parcels, about 112 acres, for which city council recently turned thumbs down on a requested rezoning.

Opposes Electric Heat

To the Editor:

My neighbors and I are alarmed by the recent incidents of electric-heater fires. They are a clear warning of danger.

Roughly 10% of the electric heaters installed have been defective. They "blow," shooting streams of sparks that race deadly flame across furnishings. Residents who have the electric heaters must watch out at all times, police the placement of rugs, curtains, furniture, beds, and even avoid standing wearing flammable clothes near the units. They must live with worry about leaving their homes unattended when shopping and vacationing. They must be on constant guard of children playing near the units. They must pray that their neighbors do the same.

Nevertheless, more of these unstable facilities are being brought into our homes. Greenbelt News Review fails to report these frightening facts to the community. GHI has not informed members of the hazard of electric units.

Confronted with the fires and also the County Fire Marshals' concern about closet hot-water boilers, members of the board and management at the February 11 meeting responded with laughter and disparagement.

To risk our lives on the altar of GHI ambitions is tantamount to cultist suicide. Their families and ours are dispensable. It is imperative that they be stopped now and a thorough inquiry be commissioned to keep our homes safe as well as warm.

Benjamin Abramowitz

(Editor's Note: In claiming that "10% of the electric heaters installed have been defective," the writer seems to mean three baseboard units in approximately 30 homes. GHI has confirmed that two baseboard units have been defective. The Greenbelt Fire Department has confirmed only one related fire confined to a corner of a room.

A spokesman for the fire marshal's office told the News Review on Monday, Feb. 21, that their concern about electric hot water heaters would be limited to whether "it meets the code and is installed properly." The spokesman said there is nothing unusual about placing hot water heaters in closets. See GHI Board story for more details.)

Legion Celebrates 63rd Birthday

Greenbelt's American Legion Post 136 will join with millions of their fellow members to celebrate the American Legion's 63rd birthday during March, Post Commander Robert Crago announced. The Legion began in Paris in 1919, attended by representatives of the various outfits of the American Expeditionary Force in World War I.

Anniversary activities will include a dinner dance to be held on March 20, a visit by the State Commander and National Officers, and a special meeting on March 11 at 8:30 p.m. to help inform the community about services offered by the Post.

A handful of World War I veterans founded Greenbelt's own American Legion at a meeting held in the local school auditorium on November 2, 1937. A temporary charter was granted in 1933 and the post moved into a decrepit old farmhouse on January 9, 1939. The Legion Post repaired the property and in June 1949 purchased it, including three acres for $2,000. A hall was built in 1947-48 and renovated in 1954, a dining room addition was added in 1969 and a new lounge was opened last May. The original farm house is now 113 years old.

Heat, Hot Water Conversion Bids Accepted by GHI Board

Taking a giant step in the Phase II Rehabilitation Program for Grenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI), the GHI Board of Directors unanimously approved electrical and plumbing contracts for heat and hot water conversion at a special meeting on February 23. The companies awarded the contracts were Capitol Electric Contractors, Inc. and Ace Heating and Plumbing, Inc.

GHI General Manager Tim Mitter explained that he was "pleased to start Phase II of this nationally historic rehabilitation project. After careful scrutiny, we decided on the companies and the prices were right." Capitol Electric Contractors, Inc. will do all electric work associated with heat conversion for a price not to exceed $1,653,000. The motion to select Capitol was made by Steve Curtis, seconded by Margaret Høgensen. Ace Heating and Plumbing Company, Inc. will do all plumbing, including insulation of pipes, associated with heat conversion, for an amount not to exceed $814,673. The motion to Select Ace was made by Margaret Høgensen and seconded by Don Volk.

Plumbing

Ace Heating and Plumbing Company, Inc. is a family business owned by David Steger and his wife Merna. Established in 1969, the company's main office is in Waldorf with a branch office in Odenton. "We'll have a branch project office here in Grenbelt for the next eight or nine months", Steger said.

The company is financially stable and has a good track record. Over the years, the company has worked on many thousands of homes including work for Pulte Homes and Washington Homes. At one time, Ace did the plumbing work for most of the builders of St. Charles City, a new planned community in Charles County.

Steger is a Master Plumber and a veteran of the U.S. Air Force who served in World War II. He has three sons who work in the business with him — Gay, Doug and David. Gary is also a Master Plumber; Doug and David are Journeyman Plumbers. The company has almost 40 employees. Gary Steger will be the superintendent in charge of Grenbelt.

Steger said he found the community "well-planned, clean, pretty and neat." He is looking forward to a "very exciting" job.

Electrical

Jerry Hall of Capitol Electric Contractors, Inc. also expressed excitement. "We're excited about working in a historic community," he said. Hall is one of three principals of the company. Charles Markison, Ray Balinger and Hall are equal partners and work as a team. Markison is the President. Capitol Electric was founded in 1947.

They have 80 employees and have performed quality work in similar rehabilitation projects. The head office is in Bladensburg.

The company has considerable experience working with residents and communities on large projects. They have done rehabilitation work on two projects — Rosemary Village and Beecher Street, NW — where the units were occupied and were being converted to a cooperative. Other large projects they have worked on recently are Springhill Lake, McLean Gardens and White Flint Mall. In 1952, Capitol Electric wired 800 units in the Berkshire Apartments for electric heat. At that time, it was the largest project of its kind in the metropolitan area.

Hall explained that "we feel we have the type of organization and people who can work along with members in their units. We have the experience doing it."

Equipment

In addition to choosing contractors for heat and hot water conversion, the board also chose the plumbing and heating equipment which will be standard for the whole project. Chromolox was chosen as the standard for the hot water heater. Board members were impressed with an optional protective grill for the Chromolox unit. They also felt it would be aesthetically more pleasing because it was smaller. Square D equipment (breakers, etc.) was also chosen. "This is top-of-the-line equipment and we got an excellent price for it," explained Staff Architect Stan Sersen.

"We've done the best job we can do," explained GHI President Jim Smith at the Board meeting Tuesday night. The companies awarded the contracts have already begun work in the test units.

Abramowitz Fights GHI On Electric Heat; Boards Okays John Hanson Resale-Financing

by Mary Lou Williamson

At its regular meeting February 11, the Greenbelt Homes Board of Directors accepted the million dollar resale financing proposal of John Hanson Savings and Loan. The acceptance is subject to approval of counsel and is expected to involve some minor language changes. Staff also indicated it would be ready within a week to present recommendations on Phase II bids. (See separate story.)

Members

Member Ben Abramowitz expressed great concern about the safety of electric baseboard heat, which he adamantly opposes. He told board and management of his concern for the elderly, who would suffer from skin problems with the dryness of electric heat. He also chastised the board for the new windows, which, he said, made the homes "wringing wet."

During the previous week, Abramowitz said, he had learned of a fire in the home of a member who has already converted to electric heat. He charged that there have been three such fires in GHI homes and told the board he had called in the media to investigate.

Staff architect, Stan Sersen, reported to the board that he was aware of one incident in which a defective unit broke apart and arced. "What had caused the fire, he continued, was the long sheer curtain which 'hung down over the top of the baseboard unit, blocking the unit.' The curtain, already 'close to ignition point,' Sersen surmised, then caught fire from a spark. (He later told the News Review that the backs of similar curtains in the same room were scorched and brown.)

Sersen said he knew of one other breakdown of a baseboard unit, but no other fire.

Abramowitz disputed Sersen's information, insisting there were three fires. Wayne Williams asked management to obtain the facts for board members by the next board meeting.

When contacted by the News Review on Feb. 22, Greenbelt Fire Department Assistant Chief William Dunn could verify only one fire. "We have no knowledge of any second or third fire," he said.

Board member Steve Curtis decried Abramowitz' "extremist view," calling it self interest rather than, "common interest"—words on the tee shirt he had worn for the TV cameras. Curtis explained that steps are being taken to deal with the problem of excessive moisture which has occurred in some homes. He pointed out the contradiction in Abramowitz's statement that homes would suffer from excessive moisture and extreme dryness.

As for safety of the electric baseboard, he said, GHI expects to have child-proofing measures available. Management and board both acknowledged the need for an educational program for the membership. The weekly rehab Phase II informational meetings, scheduled to begin Monday, already include that kind of material, Sersen later told the News Review.

("Electric baseboard heat) is not hi-tech," Curtis summarized. "It's been done all over for years. What makes it new in the GHI community is that it will be an efficient way of heating our homes."

Audit Committee member Katherine Keene suggested contacting the National Fire Protection Agency for information on fire safety. She also asked which media Abramowitz had contacted.

Abramowitz refused to divulge his contacts, saying, "I don't want this white-washed." He then promised to call "every available source" in his fight against electric heat. He called on the board to halt heat conversion, asking that they appoint a commission of inquiry into the safety of electric heat.

Member Joe Reminick told the board he had contacted both the Prince Georges and the Greenbelt Fire Departments on this issue of safety for the Aesthetics and Environment Committee, having made his report the previous evening. Neither fire department, he said, had expressed alarm about electric heat. Both suggested an education program for members. Potential problems they identified, Reminick reported, were faulty controls, safety valves, short circuits in wiring, and draperies or furniture too close to the units. They also suggested a regular inspection program by GHI.

Conversion Halt Rejected

In response to Abramowitz' request to stop the conversion program, director Joe Jenkins reminded the board that time is running out on the old oil heating system. "In eight months, we won't be able to get insurance coverage," Jenkins said. Work which the county has declared necessary for continued use of the old boiler plants has been put off now for two years, based on GHI's intention to change the system. The county, they say, would not allow another year to go by without bringing it up to code, work which management estimates would cost over $200,000. "If we were to decide now to not go ahead, we would face a 50% increase in heating costs this summer to fix those boilers," said Smith. "We've already opened bids; if we don't get going we could be charged with bad faith." "It's a catch-22 situation," Jenkins commented. "Some forms of heating are safer and some are more cost effective . . . I'm convinced we're heading in the right direction"

Disgusted, Abramowitz walked out. "I won't participate in this farce," he said.

Twin Pines Merger

Twin Pines President Harvey Geller and board member Joe Timmer were present to announce the planned merger of Twin Pines Savings and Loan Association with Community Savings and Loan of Gaithersburg. Geller spoke of the need for Twin Pines to be able to provide services to the Greenbelt Community. For example, he said, no loans have been made for a long time and the immediate future doesn't look any brighter. Geller portrayed Community as a well run, aggressive business with much more liquidity than Twin Pines and yet interested in the community it serves.

Petition

Member Sandy Smith requested "compensation for those members who were without heat the coldest night of the century." Funds would come from the penalty which the fuel company paid GHI for allowing the plant to run out of oil. Her petition was signed by 90 of the 110 members served by plant No. 23, several of whom were present.

President Jim Smith agreed to put the item on the next agenda. He then cautioned board members that to reimburse members for inconvenience would require a change in policy—a change that could prove expensive. Staff was embarrassed to find that their written response to Sandy Smith's original letter of several weeks ago had not been received. "I signed the letter," said a chagrined president.

General Manager Tim Mitter introduced several new employees of GHIDC, among them two electrical inspectors. Ted Jett has 30 years experience as a Master electrician. Having listened to the discussion on safety of electric heat, Jett commented that he himself has had electric baseboard heat in his home for 20 years and has never had a failure. Joe Dinan, who has his journeyman card, has 20 years experience, much of it installing electric heat. "You're paying me to see that it is safe," he told board and members.

Actions Taken

The Board:

— approved negotiations with John Hanson Savings and Loan to make $1,000,000 available for resale financing of GHI houses, the first new financing source for the community. GHI would pay a fee of $20,000, which could be passed on to members who use the loan funds. (No loans, other than assumptions and owner-take-backs have been made for over a year, according to staff.)

— directed management to draw up information on the larger homes equity issue which would explain the three options it proposes to submit to membership vote. The board generally favors changing the current policy, but because that policy was set by membership vote, it can only be changed by membership vote. The method of voting has not been decided.

— contracted with Village Disposal to remove construction debris for one year in an amount not to exceed $56,000 (same terms as last year's contract).

— approved a contract to restore the unit at 8-L Laurel Hill damaged by fire on Nov. 29 — $9,885.86.

... manage your business on $1 a day?

Right. That's the purchase price of a typical Apple system ($2,500) amortized over the normal depreciable life of a business machine.

And for that meager sum, you'll be getting the talents of a manager, controller, accountant, secretary and much more.

Without having to hire a computer programmer. Because there's more ready-to-use software for Apple than for any other system you can buy.

If you'd like to manage on a $1 a day, come in for a demonstration that's all business.

It won't cost you a cent.

Notice of Special Meeting of Members

Twin Pines Savings and Loan Association

A Special Meeting of Members of Twin Pines Savings and Loan Association will be held on Tuesday, March 9, 1982, at 8 p.m. at the City Council Chamber, Greenbelt, Municipal Building, 25 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, Maryland.

The purpose of this meeting is to vote on a plan, approved by both Boards of Directors, to merge Twin Pines with Community Savings and Loan, Inc. of Gaithersburg, Maryland.

The Board of Directors has approved this merger in order to improve and strengthen Twin Pines financially and operationally, to facilitate our move to larger quarters, to maintain existing services and to introduce new services, such as IRA, Keogh, NOW and Daily Money Accounts, and a walk-up teller window. The merger will result in a much stronger institution which will be more capable of meeting the financial needs of Twin Pines' members and of our community.

Both Twin Pines and Community Savings and Loan are state-insured associations. The accounts at both institutions are insured to $100,000, each by MSSIC. Twin Pines will, in effect, become the Greenbelt office of Community Savings and Loan. To members with accounts and loans at Twin Pines, this merger has no financial impact. Accounts at Twin Pines will become accounts in Community; no Twin Pines saver will lose any money. Loans at Twin Pines will become loans in Community.

Your vote is important. Whether you are able to attend the meeting or not, it is imperative that you cast your vote since Maryland law requires that this merger be approved by two-thirds of the Association's members.

The Board has approved this merger both in principle and in detail, and it strongly recommends that the members do likewise as soon as possible.

Information and ballots are being mailed to all members and will also be available at the Twin Pines office.

In conjunction with the radar service, an HR-4 PR Speed Display System has also been purchased. This is a visual display board which flashes the motorist's speed in very large reflective numbers which can be seen by the motorist as he drives past. This is one of the few such devices in the metropolitan area.

An armed robbery took place on February 22 at 2:23 p.m. at Mr. Foto in Beltway Plaza. Cash and film were taken. The suspect was described as a black male adult, 20-30 yrs., 5'8", 160 lbs., with a medium bush haircut, wearing a gray 3-piece suit and a gray coat.

Three semi-automatic rifles were removed from Sporting Life and Discount Hardware on Greenbelt Road. Two rifles were 22-calibre and one was a 30-06. The loss was discovered during inventory.

The orange Honda motorcycle reported stolen last week was recovered by Cpl. Thomas W. Miskell.

Pfc. Fred E. Murray charged a non-resident adult with theft from the Drug Fair in Beltway Plaza.

Pfc. James D. Love charged an adult resident with two counts of assault and discharging a firearm within 1000 ft. of an occupied building. The charges resulted from a domestic disturbance which took place shortly after midnight on February 20 in the 7700 block of Hanover Pkwy.

A green 1978 Kawasaki motorcycle was stolen from the 8000 block of Breezewood Terrace on February 16. The Md. registration is 115752.

As a result of a report by an alert resident, a suspect was arrested by Pfc. Thomas R. Justin for attempting to steal articles of value from a parked car in the rear of 9 Parkway.

A male suspect who attempted to steal a stereo and a video cassette recorder was arrested by Cpl. Thomas J. Miskell as he was driving away from a Springhill Lake apartment. The suspect knew the occupants of the apartment and, after gaining entry, posed as the son of the occupants. He was observed by the real son as he was leaving. The property was recovered.
